

Portfolio MonitorSM

Detect early signs of trouble on your small-business accounts

If customers in your portfolio are headed for trouble, you want that information as soon as possible. The Portfolio MonitorSM product suite from Experian delivers it.

Portfolio MonitorSM — Business Notices

Portfolio MonitorSM — Business Notices provides you with the latest-breaking derogatory changes in customer status weekly, and bankruptcy filings daily. With early detection of your customers' negative payment trends, you will minimize your overall portfolio risk. You can receive the following warnings, which can be customized, allowing you to filter the accounts you want to monitor and the types of business warnings you would like to receive:

- Bankruptcies
- Tax liens and judgments
- Increasingly late payments
- Collection agency activity
- Significant past-due activity with newly reported tradelines
- Uniform Commercial Code filings
- Derogatory information from other suppliers

Portfolio MonitorSM — Owner Notices

When the owners or guarantors of your small-business accounts are having trouble, it's a threat to your business. However, it's an even bigger threat not knowing who they are. With Portfolio MonitorSM — Owner Notices, you now have the option of identifying these problems long before they ever have a chance to affect your profit margin. This service monitors business owners and guarantors and provides you with daily alerts for:

- Public record including bankruptcies
- Derogatory payment information
- New inquiries and trades on file
- Collection information
- Different address on file

Experian's Portfolio Monitor product suite is flexible and easy to use

E-mail messages can be sent to you automatically to notify you of any new warnings received on your monitored account list. To receive detailed information on any of these flags, simply view the Warning Detail Report and/or order a Business Profile or Commercial IntelliscoreSM report from Experian to help you decide what action to take.
